The Student Council, under the direction of Sister Agnes Imelda, principal, consists of ASB officers, class presidents and representatives, GAA president, newspaper editor, Sodality prefect, VCISC representative and Catalan editor.

Student Council members help plan the agenda for studentbody meetings, handle demerits for minor infractions of rules, form student court, organize dates for special assemblies and programs, and sponsor the Christmas party and the ASB Formal and picnic.

The Christmas party, recognized for its fun and gaiety, climaxes the activities preceding Christmas vacation. The ASB Formal, remembered for its excitement and glitter, lingers long in the memories of the studentbody. June brings the ASB picnic which marks the end of the school activities.

Stephanie Rossa, Roxanne Bogner, Mary Kay O'Reilly and Martha Hadlen become accustomed to the ways of St Catherine's on a mild September Day

Fresh and alert the freshmen begin school with orientation day. Each freshman becomes better acquainted with the school campus with the help of a senior. Comes, then, a day filled with excitement and surprises. It is the official freshman initiation into the student body.

Right from the start memories begin to evolve. There are school dances to attend; games to play or cheer on to victory. The freshmen are active in the Apostleship of Prayer and are often seen setting up the altar for First Friday Mass. Thanksgiving comes; the freshmen baskets are generously filled for the poor.

The freshmen, under the guidance of Sister Donald C.S.C., have supervision of the gym, sickroom, and the stairs to the lower terrace.

Fresh from the grade school, where they were top girls, no dreams are impossible to them.

A black and white graphic featuring the word "SOPHOMORES" repeated multiple times in a stylized, outlined font. The text is arranged in a dense, overlapping pattern, with some letters appearing larger and more prominent than others, creating a sense of depth and movement. The overall effect is a rhythmic, almost abstract composition of the same word.

Evanne Silvestri and Linda McAtee, early birds, await the arrival of classmates to a new school year on opening day

The sophomore year is a time for establishing ideals. The sophomores came to St. Catherine's in the fall of 1966. High school alone was a challenge; they were a little timid about getting into the way of life that was here.

Many thought high school was only for scholastic education requiring continuous and hard study. Others thought study was a necessary evil, tagged on to the fun of being no longer a grade school child.

Now, after two years in high school, they can begin to say what high school is, what their life of instruction can gain, what they can accomplish.

The sophomores had beginner's spunk as freshmen. Many applied it fully, enthusiastically and wisely. Others' participation and enthusiasm were not always strong, but, even at that, they did well.

As sophomores, they felt a bit more important than they did as freshmen. They took on a greater sense of responsibility. School itself was not a challenge alone; accepting the challenge of the future, while trying to solve the changing present became their theme. What they had to do came to realization.

More vivacious, they developed a sense of oneness, of their importance. They believed in themselves. They set out to prove their worth.

Many girls were recognized for their athletic, artistic and scholastic talents.

This year the sophomores began to enjoy, if not fully appreciate, the way of life that is high school. Two years have passed now since they came to St. Catherine's as a labeled group—the youngest ones. In September they will be upper classmen. They have just begun to fight.

JUNIORS, to RUSH...

Lucinda Smith, vice-president of the junior class, animatedly describes the band suggested to her classmates during the noon break. They are: Belia Cabral, Stephanie Chess, Marie Simard, Paula Munoz, Catherine Ferro, and Catherine Bennett

The junior year is a time for girls to start settling down. It is a year filled with fun and hard work. Receiving their class ring in September, juniors are reminded that they have completed their years of adjustment and now face responsibilities.

Sister Josephine Mary is junior sponsor and their guide toward their year of fulfillment, 1969. Willing to work, friendly, and intelligent are the juniors. They successfully sponsor inter-class functions, money-making activities, and class parties. Eight of the twenty present CSF members are juniors. Their class participates in philanthropic projects such as filling Thanksgiving baskets for the underprivileged in November, and collecting for foreign Missions in December.

Juniors also sponsor the graduation tea as a tribute to the Class of 1968. Highlighting their year, however, is the hosting of their Prom for their friends the seniors.

The unity of the Class of 1969 during their first three years of high school gives promise of an active and rewarding senior year.

Look to this day!
For it is life, the very life of life.
In its brief course lie
all the verities and realities of existence:
The bliss of growth,
the glory of action,
the splendor of beauty.
For yesterday is but a dream,
and tomorrow is only a vision;
But today well-lived makes Every yesterday a dream
of happiness,
and every tomorrow a vision of hope.
Look well therefore to this day!
Such is the salutation of the dawn.

SENIORS, to Reach...

The senior year is a time for fulfilling high school dreams. Exclusive use of the senior patio, senior sweaters, special care of little sisters, and senior free day are some of the privileges enjoyed by them.

Under the sponsorship of Sister Judith Therese, the seniors are an active class giving a fine example of school spirit. In charge of monitoring the halls in between class periods, they are prompt in attending to their responsibilities.

Highlighting their year were: painting the patio chairs to match their green sweaters; hosting their sponsor at a Feast Day dinner at the Pierpont Inn; trying out for Junior Miss; shipping packages to our boys in Vietnam; attending the Conejo Players' production of the Canterbury Tales; and handling the major positions on the staff of the school's first printed newspaper, and having succeeded in the production of an artistically revolutionary yearbook.

Maureen Pearson, Patricia Roberts, Margaret Garcia, Renée Kack, Anne Chess, and Sharon Coughlin combine fun and work as they paint the senior patio chairs.

A GIRL is by nature gregarious.
She is at her best when she is sharing.

Unlike the boy, she becomes a member of a group,
to fulfill her need to give,
to give of her time,
to give of her compassion,
to give of her understanding,
to give of her talents,
to give of herself.

Clubs are her metier, her philosopher's stone, for in them she can fulfill her need to give,
and to receive in her turn
the gifts of those about her.

Ida Hodgins, a chairman for the seniors' "Boys in Vietnam" project was honored as girl of the second quarter

Senior class president, Chris Melhorn, and junior class president, Barbara Gius, accept congratulations from Sister Agnes Imeldo for class of the quarter awards. The juniors received the award for the first quarter, the seniors for the second quarter

California State Scholarship Semifinalists for 1968 are: Anne Chess, Mary Ellen Jones, and Christine Melhorn.

Theresa Gallop, senior, has been recognized as a scientist medalist. The award, designed to inspire and inform youths in relation to the opportunities, needs and qualifications of scientific and technological manpower, was presented to Theresa at the Union Oil Company in Los Angeles

Anne Chess was chosen to receive the Daughters of the American Revolution Good Citizenship Award from St. Catherine's. Anne also received the girl of the first quarter award for her outstanding school and civic activities

PRIDE in YOUR accomplishments..

Life members in the California Scholarship Federation are Christine Melhorn, Marilyn McCandless, Mary Voelker, and Anne Chess. By attaining ten points at the semester for four semesters, including one semester of their senior year, these seniors are honored by wearing gold cords at graduation

This year the newspaper of the Academy of St. Catherine has taken a new look. Mary Ellen Jones, Starlet editor, displays with pride the Christmas edition of the paper.

The Catalan, completely designed by the staff, is a composite of their creative ability. Annette Bordagaray smiles proudly as she chooses the type to set off her original headlines.

The Italian Catholic Federation chose as the topic for its annual Christmas essay, "Keep Christ in Christmas." Sophomore Berta Medina has proven herself knowledgeable in keeping Christ in Christmas by placing second in the contest.

ACTIVITIES

Let us Dance, YOU and I Singing deep within the heart,
UNTIL that DAY SHALL COME
When Peace Reigns,
AND evil MEN DEPART.

As you know, the Mother Provincial of the Sisters of the Holy Cross did not announce the closing of Saint Catherine's until after the first half of the Catalan had gone to the printers. Her announcement made your staff feel that we should include every little memory possible into your annual.

Here in mid-book we are changing our layout. To give us more space for pictures, we are omitting captions wherever possible. This is your book; you need no captions to recall your classmates. The Activities is now planned to make our Catalan a history of a year to remember. Please say, "Thanks for the Memories."

of giving and sharing...

Happiness is a cuddly mascot, agree Sandra, Peggy, Mary, and Mr. Dwight Butler, representative of the Curtis Publishing Company, with armfuls of magazine drive rewards

While dining at the Pierpont, Sister Josephine shares a giggle with Mary and Carly. The evening was her Christmas present from her juniors

Joker, left, and buddy, Ridge, reflect the joy and comfort they are finding in Vietnam. Seniors sent them smiles, however, in bushels of goodies

Pat, Chris, and Peggy watch as Sister Agnes Imelda opens one of her feast day gifts. The class of '68 honored her by taking her out to lunch

Sister Jose Maria, Mrs. Rowe, and Sister Josephine relax with Linda James after a grand feast at the Pizza Palace

...of ENJOYING the fine arts,

Members of Sienna Circle study a Buddhist statue at the Santa Barbara Museum of Art

Mary Ellen Jones and Annette Bordagaray look over an annual at the U.C.L.A. yearbook seminar

On a tour of the Santa Barbara Art Museum, the guide gives the Sienna Circle a brief history of each picture

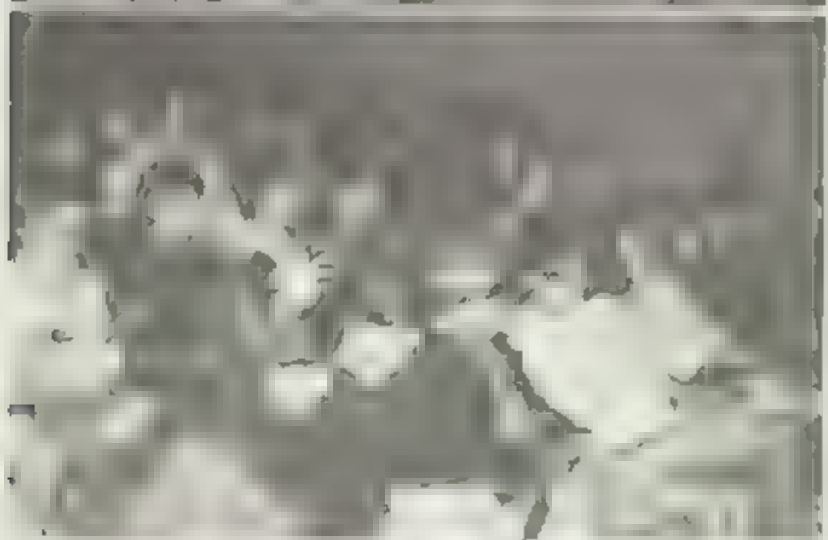

Linda McAtee pauses a minute to give a summary of the C.S.F. outing to a favorite teacher, Mrs. Rowe.
